

BASKETBALL

The Dynamic Indoor Sport

Introduction

Basketball is a fast-paced team sport played between two teams of five players each on a rectangular court. Each team attempts to score by shooting a ball through the opponent's elevated horizontal hoop and net, called a basket. Basketball is unique as the only major sport strictly of U.S. origin.britannica

History of Basketball

Invention:

- Basketball was invented by Dr. James Naismith on December 21, 1891.britannica+1
- Created at the International Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA) Training School in Springfield, Massachusetts.britannica
- Naismith was an instructor in physical education seeking an indoor winter sport to keep athletes fit.britannica+1

Early Development:

- The first game used peach baskets as goals and a soccer ball.scribd
- Original teams had nine players each (now five).scribd
- Naismith created 13 basic rules, including fouls, goals, and out-of-bounds penalties.blog.ansi
- The sport rapidly spread in popularity during the early 20th century.scribd

Professional Era:

- The National Basketball Association (NBA) was formed in 1949 through a merger of earlier professional leagues.scribd
- The shot clock was introduced in 1954 to speed up the game.scribd
- Legendary players like Michael Jordan, Larry Bird, Magic Johnson, and later LeBron Steph Curry boosted the game's global popularity.scribd

Modern Basketball:

- Today, basketball is played professionally in over 200 countries.blog.ansi

- The NBA is the world's premier professional basketball league.blog.ansi
 - Basketball became an Olympic sport in 1936 (men) and 1976 (women).blog.ansi

Basic Objective

Two teams of five players each compete to score points by shooting the ball through the opponent's basket while preventing the other team from scoring. The team with the most points at the end of the game wins. Players advance the ball by dribbling (bouncing while moving) or passing to teammates.britannica+1
